GREENSBORO TELEGRAM.

VOL. VII. NO. 130. GREENSBORO, N. C., FRIDAY, JANUARY 4, 1901. Price Five Cents

THE MONUMENT FUND GROWS.

NON-PRESIDENTS SEND IN CHECKS FOR GOOD AMOUNTS.

The Subscription Now Getting in the Neighborhood of Half the Amount Required.

The Telegram is glad to announce that the subscriptions to the colonial monument to be erected at the Guilford Battle Ground, now stands as follows:

Neil Ellington, President of Greensboro National Bank.....	$50.00
R. F. Dalton, of Snow Lumber Company of High Point.	$25.00
Party whose name will be given.....	$150.00
J. A. Odell, President of the Odell Hardware Company..	$50.00
Col. Julian S. Carr.....	$100.00
B. N. Duke, Esq.....	$50.00
Total	$425.00

It is needless to say that this list is very gratifying to those who are laboring in this matter. The interest taken by friends of the cause elsewhere than in Greensboro is especially gratifying. The home subscriptions have not been what they should, but we are satisfied that they will come. It is too patriotic a cause not to enlist the thorough sympathy and active support of our home people always renowned for their State pride and patriotism, and of course it will. They have been called upon time and time again in behalf of general purposes for the Battle Ground and have nobly borne the cause of the movement for all these years. But the unique, the totally unique, returns which they have for all their labor and expense is unequalled in the country. The battle of Guilford Court House has been given a prominence which its importance entitled it to, but which it had never received. And in the Park we have something indeed to be proud of. But it must be borne in mind that what we have is but an earnest of what we can and must have. While, as we have said, our people have given much, they have done no more than was their duty.

Having ancestors who took prominent parts in the cause sought to be commemorated, they should as a matter of pride and pleasure, to say nothing of public spirit and a desire to contribute to anything that helps the town along, contribute gladly, and without delay, the remaining sum necessary for this purpose.

New Depot for High Point.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

High Point, Jan. 4.—Your correspondent is in possession of information which apparently comes from a reliable source and if proven to be true will be good news to the readers of this paper here. It is to the effect that a handsome and more commodious freight depot for High Point will take the place of the old one. And probably a passenger depot will also be built at the same time. The location given is on the property at the main crossing, known as the City Park. Mr. J. H. Sands, General Superintendent of the Southern Railway, and Mr. O'Brien, Division Superintendent, were here yesterday in view of this matter, it is said. The old freight depot is inadequate.

An Asheville Citizen Provides for a Park.

Asheville Citizen.

The masss meeting at the court house this ofternoon called by Chairman Reed of the Board of County Commissioners to discuss county financial questions, developed an agreeable surprise for those who attended, when the following letter from George W. Pack was read:

"To the commissioners of the county of Buncombe, North Carolina:

"I offer to give to the county, to be used for a site for a court house and county offices the land on College street in Asheville which I purchased from Col. A. T. Davidson, provided that the county will dedicate to the public, forever, to be used for the purposes of a public square, park or place, whatever land the county may now own within the limits of the public square, socalled, in Asheville, the present court house to be removed therefrom prior to such date as you may agree upon with Judge Merrimon and Mr. Gwyn, acting for me."

"Dated December 31, 1900.

"GEORGE W. PACK."

DOWN ON THE RUSSELL PLAN.

A Well Known Gentleman Says it Would Be a Disgrace to the State.

There are many members of the legal profession that look with exceeding disfavor upon the proposition that Governor Russell well practically appoint himself Chief Justice. "Such a thing would be a disgrace to the State of North Carolina," said a gentleman of the legal profession who is known all over the State. "It would be enough to forever sink the man who perpetrated the deed into contumely. The idea of a man, who has but a few days more in office using the accident of those days to put himself in the most exalted position in the State.

"The thing for him to do if he wishes to do the right and honorable and best thing, and one that will entitle him to the respect and consideration of the State, is to appoint the fittest man he can find, irrespective of party. Such action as is talked of would be an insult to the people of the State."

Another Battle Ground Story.

The interest that writers of fiction have lately developed in the Revolutionary period has brought them to North Carolina's rich mine. Some time ago we published a Guilford Battle Ground story from The Youth's Companion. The January number of Lippincott's Magazine contains one of eight pages, entitled "When Blades are Out and Love's Afield."

The opening of the story shows General Greene seated on his horse on a muddy road anxiously awaiting news. A young officer volunteering to act as courier, he accepts it and says:

"Go, and may God go with you. Find Morgan and warn him that Cornwallis is over the Catawba. Tell him for God's sake to push on to the north with all speed! This is supposing that he has not met Tarleton, or by any chance has defeated him. Tell him to meet us at Guilford Courthouse if possible. I will order that the march of the other detachments be delayed as much as is prudent until he joins us."

Complimentary to a Visitor.

Miss Annie Donnell gave a party at her home on East Washington street last evening complimentary to her cousin, Miss Elma Burton, of Salisbury. The young folks who were present and assisted in making the occasion a very happy one, were:

Misses Elma Burton, of Salisbury; Bertha Jones, Lizzie Tate, Lillie Owens, Lou Haithcock, Daisy Donnell, Lucy Jones, Nellie Dorch, Juanita Blank, Lowe Montgomery, Elsie May, Lizzie Montgomery, Virgie Kendall and Bertha Corl, and Messrs. A. Glascock, Charles Brower, Will Phipps, Luke Glascock, Frank Blackburn, Walter Chisholm, Lacey Andrews, Peter Stroud, Thomas Sockwell, Peter Watkins, Will Fields, and Donnell May.

A Dangerous Fire Stopped.

Early this morning while the family of Mr. W. C. Porter, who lives on Gorrell street, were at breakfast, smoke was noticed to be coming apparently from the attic. Search was immediately made in the attic but no fire was to be found, when Clark opening the door of his mother's room, found the mantel to be burning fiercely.

Several buckets of water sufficed to extinguish the flames, but not before the mantel and its contents had been ruined. It is supposed that the mantel, being made of inflamable material, was ignited by a spark from the fire.

No alarm was turned in.

Distillery Seized.

Deputy Collector A. O. Starbuck today seized the government distillery of Mr. John R. Stewart, located ten miles east of town. The outfit and six barrels of corn whiskey were brought to Greensboro and stored in the government warehouse on East Market street.

Goes to Durham.

The article in yesterday's Telegram regarding the failure of Mr. Farrar was not intended to reflect at all upon Mr. Frazier. He goes to Durham to assume a position with Mr. S. M. Snider.

TO BUILD TRINITY'S LIBRARY

THE PLANS OF MR. O. M. GATES, OF GREENSBORO, ACCEPTED.

To be the Handsomest Thing of Its Kind in the State, Costing Nearly One Hundred Thousand Dollars.

The library building donated by Mr. J. B. Duke to Trinity College is to be begun at once. The design for the building made by Mr. O. M. Gates has been accepted, and those who have seen it say it is handsome indeed. The cost of the building was not altogether a consideration. Mr. J. B. Duke, by whose munificence it is to be built, gives as much as is necessary to erect such a structure as the committee chose. It is understood that the cost is to be anywhere between $50,000 and $100,000, perhaps nearer the latter than the former.

The adoption of the plans of Greensboro's architect was indeed a great compliment to him and their excellence, owing to the strong competition. Mr. Gates is now in Durham completing the contract.

The plans for the building were made by Mr. O. M. Gates, of Greensboro, of the firm of Haden, Wheeler & Schwend. They won over all competition. The building will be the most magnificent of its kind in North Carolina. Among the plans submitted were several designs by Northern architects.

A FIERCE OIL WAR.

The Standard Has Ordered Its Oil Sold Two Cents Less Than Any Price Its Rival May Make.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 4.—An oil fight is on at Ravenna. The Pennsylvania Oil Company has been selling oil for few months at the same price as the Standard Oil Company. Now the Standard has dropped from ten and twelve to seven cents a gallon, and it is said that dealers have orders to sell Standard Oil at two cents a gallon lower than the Pennsylvania price, no matter how low that may go.

To Level Washington Street.

Prof. J. M. Bandy, the city civil engineer, is surveying West Washington street this afternoon, and several improvements along thorougfare will shortly be made. The hill in front of Keeley Institute will be cut down, the surplus dirt put in the hollow on their side, and then the street will be comparatively level from Elm to Spring streets.

Marriage of Miss Denning and Mr. Stack.

Miss Sinnie Denning and Mr. Arthur Stack were married last night at 9:30 o'clock, Rev. T. M. Johnson officiating. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Martha Denning, Church street, in the presence of a company of friends of the young couple. The parlor was neatly decorated with holly and other evergreens. The fair bride was becomingly attired in white. After the ceremony and congratulations, refreshments were served, and the friends separated, wishing the happy couple a long life full of blessing.

To Build on Summit Avenue.

Mr. J. M. Millikan has purchased the pretty grove this side of Mr. Howard Gardner's on Summit avenue and will, as soon as the weather permits, begin to build a handsome residence upon it.

Mr. F. H. Hyatt, of Columbia, general agent for North and South Carolina for the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Col. Ryan, executive special agent of the same company, spent the day in the city.

A marriage took place near Whitsett Institute recently, the bride and groom being aged 73 and 75 years respectively. Cupid's dart seems to be as pentrating to the old as to the young.

FREEZING PEOPLE ON STREETS.

DRIVEN FROM THEIR HOMES BY ROARING FLAMES.

Fourteen Families Driven Forth When The Mercury Was in Fifteen of Zero.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Fire gutted the two five-story buildings covering the quarter block on Washington street, this morning, adjoining the Lyceum theatre. The loss is about one hundred and thirty thousand dollars. A dozen firms were burned out. The fire's origin is a mystery, which the police are trying to discover. The intense cold caused great difficulty in fighting the flames. The water was freezing on the ladders on all parts of the building where the flames had not reached.

FOURTEEN FAMILIES OUT.

Elizabeth, N. J., Jan. 4.—Fire early this morning drove fourteen families to the street in their night clothes, when the mercury was fifteen above zero. Five houses and a barn were destroyed. The loss is seventy-five thousand dollars.

HOTEL GONE.

Ithica, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Connelly's Alhambra hotel was burned early this morning.

Hungry Republicans in the Ninth Invoke The Principles of Their Party to Put Them in Office.

Asheville Citizen.

This mass meeting of the Ninth Congressional district is called by the Republican committee of safety to meet in the court house in the city of Asheville, January 19, 1901, at 12 o'clock. The purpose of this mass meeting is to protest in the form of suitable resolutions against the endorsement and reappointment of the present Federal officers in this district. While these gentlemen are honorable men and worthy Republicans, we believe that as patriotic Republicans they should gracefully retire, and that these honorable and lucrative positions should be given to worthy Republicans who have not heretofore been recognized. The great Republican party has always stood for those principles that were just and fair to all.

Now, to secure such action by our leaders, every Republican in the Ninth district is earnestly requested to come or send delegations from each county to take part in forming and passing these resolutions and present them to Senator J. C. Pritchard and Congressman-elect Hon. J. M. Moody, and we are sure they will not disregard the voice of their party, but will treat all Republicans justly and fairly. It is the judgment of this committee that such action as is here recommended will give entire satisfaction to the party and result in re-electing Mr. Moody to congress, in carrying the State in 1902, and in the return of our great leader to the United States senate to succeed himself. A failure to do this will wreck the party in the district and State.

Let each Republican who receives this notice circulate it among the Republicans in his section. Each Republican journal in this district is politely requested to publish this notice in full.

H. L. HERREN, Chairman.
J. M. PATTERSON, Secretary.

Father and Daughters Crazy.

Surry Standard.

One of the saddest cases we have to chronicle is that of Mr. John Greenwood and his two daughters. In the early part of last week all three of them became insane almost at the same time. Drs. Ring and Mosely were called and their opinion seems to be that it is caused by religious excitement. On Sunday they became so violent that it was necessary to confine them by force. About three o'clock in the afternoon Miss Susan fell dead in the room. It is indeed a sad case and the sympathy of the entire community goes out to them in this mysterious calamity. Mr. Greenwood is a good citizen of this county and his family are esteemed by all who know them. On Tuesday the father and remaining daughter were taken to Morganton to the asylum, but a telegram received yesterday states that they could not be gotten in there. They will be taken to Raleigh and it is hoped that they can get in there and the treatment may soon restore them.

20TH CENTURY POSSIBILITIES.

We Shall Fly and Carry Our Food Supply in Tablets in the Pocket—Greater Men Yet to Come.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

High Point, Jan. 2.—The latest addition to the manufactories here is a lumber plant.

Mr. J. H. Tate is at the head of the new enterprise. Sash, doors, blinds, dressed lumber, etc., will be manufactured. The capital stock of the company is $40,000, the amount having already been secured. The plant will be situated among the factory district. Work will begin in a few days, and by spring the company expect to have some of their goods on the market. The names of the officers and all of the stockholders have not as yet been given for publication.

Mr. Widley, of Lenoir, sister to Mrs. A. T. Owen of this place, was here today en route to school at the A. & M. College, Raleigh.

Mrs. J. T. Herrin returned to Pilot Mountain today after a vislt of several days to relatives.

Impressive services were held Monday night in the M. E. Church to commemorate the passing of the old and the birth of the new year. A large crowd was present to worship, as it were, in the two centuries. The program consisted of songs, addresses, supplications, etc. "The Closing Century" was the subject of Dr. W. G. Bradshaw's production. After relating the many improvements, occurrences, etc., of the old year, he read an impressive story from Longfellow's works.

Mr. Bradshaw was followed by Prof. George H. Crowell on "The New Century," whose production was highly entertaining and so complimentarily spoken of that perchance it would be instructive to produce part of it here.

Mr. Crowell began with a very touching picture of the experience of one passing through the suffering, death and burial of a father or mother. Said he: "All the charitable deeds and loving kindnesses of the lost one rush in to him. On the other hand all his disobediences, failures of appreciation and refusals of their wise counsel haunt his memory. Though his heart be even so sober and stern the fountain of its great deep is broken up and pours forth tears in profusion. He realizes the bitterness of lost opportunities. Likewise in this solemn hour, the last hour of the century, when we recount the mighty struggles of the century, realize the expansion of our continent, the growth of the church, the progress of education, the power of the press, the strides of material development, and think what mortal glory! What evolution of history! What making of civilization! What lofty sentiment in education! What love for the church! What brotherhood of mankind! What opportunities lost and what improved! We bare our heads in the presence of God, tread lightly as on holy grounds and turn our faces from these sacred scenes, and peer in joy, mingled with sadness, upon the plains of widening, modern thought and man's evolving future destiny."

Here the speaker agreed that since eulogy reciting their noble deeds are delivered over the bodies of great men when they die, much more fitting is it to speak of the dying century, as the Romans who clamored for Caesar's blood, hearing Mark Antony's eulogy, arose, slew the conspirators, and then begged a hair of Caesar for memory, so we who have been robbed of many a joy, many an opportunity, many a possibility, realizing the growth of the century in every field of activity, should be aroused, "put off the old man," and carry a new life and loftier ambition, as a memento into the twentieth century. Here the three following propositions were discussed by the speaker: 1. This is an age of accumulated energy in material progress. 3. It is an age of accumulated energy in the power of citizenship. 3. It is an age of accumulated energy in the church.

Under the first head he said: "In the twentieth century we shall fly through the air, sail in submarine boats, utilize solar heat in machinery, converse by wireless telegraphy, preach by means of the phonograph and satiate our thirst and hunger with the chemist's pills." This last anticipated innovation brought forth the poem on the things to happen in the new century.

Under the second head the point was made that then the nineteenth century is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking spot, as it were, in regard to prices.

20TH CENTURY POSSILITIES.

furnished abundant opportunity for manhood and womanhood they will not be compared with those ushered by the twentieth. "Mightier men than Napoleon, Wellington, Bismarck, Washington, Gladstone, Lincoln, Lee. Blain and Cleveland will direct the forces of the empire."

"Mightier divines than Coke, Asbury, Wesley, Whitfiedl, Wightman, Marvin, Moody, Spurgeon, Talmage, and Morrison will proclaim the glad tidings of great joy. Mightier inventors than Stephenson, Whitney, Morse, Howe, Edison, McCormick and Roetgen will read Nature's hidden secrets in science. Oh, the possibilities of the youth. There is enough accumulated energy in your dead ancestry for you to pass your citizenship in high places of the earth, lay down the duties of your life at the capital of your nation and drive your chariot into the Kingdom of God by way of the stars.

"The difference between a man sitting in high places and a hewer of wood and a drawer of water, is a man expanding his energies to meet time's demand, and a contemptible parasite loafing in the streets, the one is conserving energy, the other is a waste of God-given talent."

Under the third head was shown the the influence of Christ had swept along through the ages, divergent ever, like the headlight of an engine into the darkness upon the mountain side, and now breaks upon the dawn of the twentieth century, which will project the dealings of God with the children of men upon the battlements of heaven.

The speaker then enumerated many things indicating that God would wind up the Christian dispensation with the next century. 1. Nearly all the prophecy is fulfilled. 2. The Jews are gathering back into Palestine. 3. The Gospel, it may be said, is carried into all the lands and preached in all tongues. 4. Japan has passed a law to observe the Sabbath, beginning with the new century. 5. China is turning from ancestral stagnation and cries: "Come in, O progress, and then Great Redeemer. 6 The United States, the youngest child of the Anglo-Saxon is arbiter of the nations and will say to the powers in the twentieth century: Down with the worship of Baal and wickedness and up with the kingdom of God and righteousness.

Closing, Mr. Crowell referred to the fact that something wonderful had transpired every 100 years, and most especially every 2,000 years—that the chronology interesting to the evening was: The creation 2,000 years and the flood 2,000 years more, and the birth of Christ 2,000 years more, and then—what? The ultimate triumph of the church, because the spirit of Christ has never been overcome and the circumstances now are such as to assure a speedy triumph.

Concluding he recited the graphic picture given in Vondel's Lucifer, of the battle in the heavens and the fall of the angels—how the hosts of God led by Michael Lucifer and hauled him over his infernal hosts into the regions of the damned. Just so the church with its myriad of workers and its millions of money (though wherever the eye doth look are seen signs of decay) will beat no retreat until victory is written on Immanuel's banner and every one shall bow, and every tongue shall confess the everlasting name.

The twentieth century thank offering rises like a colossus and with its sphinx of power will smite down in the midst of peans of praise and loud hallelulias, the power of darkness before the boundless scope of God's redeeming love.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 4

NEW YEAR PROSPECTS.

Greensboro starts the New Year under peculiarly favorable circumstances. The fall and holiday business has been exceedingly prosperous. Our retail merchants have enjoyed the largest trade in their experience, while our several wholesale houses have continued to forge to the front in a most gratifying manner. The home insurance companies located at this place have done the best business in their history. All the schools within our territory (and this is no small item) have closed highly prosperous half-years. The volume of travel and traffic through Greensboro was never so great. All our manufacturing concerns have had a prosperous year. This fact is sufficiently attested by the new ones springing up. The Telegram has information which leads it to believe that at least three very large new enterprises will be launched in the early part of the year. While among the new smaller enterprises just getting ready to begin work are a broom factory, two bobbin factories, and a shoe factory. All private business is clearly flourishing, and the five banks of the city are having plenty to do in handling the capital. It has been said that the condition of the banks is a good index to a city's business. In this connection we vote that our two National Banks have just declared handsome dividends, and the private banks we know are in equally as good condition. Add to all this, the fact that the census just taken shows our gain to be larger than that of any other city in the State.

As to public improvements, we are not doing what we should, but there is cause for gratification. A most handsome City Hall is in course of construction. Also a building for the fire department. The city has purchased a water plant, and will take steps to give adequate and safe water supply. Within the year an electric light plant will be installed by the city, and several thousands of dollars be spent on street improvement. We count of great value the growing sentiment for road improvement, following the excellent start already made.

Greensboro is in fine health, thankful for the past years, and ready to do more during this one.

A GEM OF PUREST RAY SERENE.

North Carolina is the home of poetry as well as of the razor-back. The New York Times, we learn by way of the Norfolk Landmark, has unearthed a poetic gem of the first water, near Wilmington, N. C., the poeta in question having published at her own proper cost and expense, two full volumes of poems, in one of which occurs some stanzas entitled, "I Kissed Pa Twice After His Death:"

"I kissed dear pa at the grave,
Then soon he was buried away:
Wreaths put on his tomb,
Whose beauty soon decay.

"I lay down and slept after the burial;
I had started to school I dreamed,
But had left my books at home,
Pa brought them it seemed.

"I saw him coming stepping high,
Which was of his walk the way;
I had stopped at a house near by—
His face was pale as clay.

"When he lay under a white sheet
On the morning after his decease,
I kissed his sad and sunken cheek,
And hoped his spirit had found peace.

"When he was having convulsions
He feared he would hurt me;
Therefore told me to go away,
He had dug artichokes for me.

"Pa dug the artichokes on that day,
He never will dig any more;
He has only paid the debt we owe,
We should try to reach the shining shore."

We quote the poem in full. Not a line of it should be lost. The Landmark thinks it is superior to Walt Whitman in his palmiest days. Of course the matter of State pride would make us assent to this if merit did not. We always liked Mr. Whitman's new-ground-like verse, and this is therefore high praise. But in an effort entitled "The Old Homestead," our talented countrywoman gets even a tighter grip on one's heartstrings. Hear her plaintive warbling, in part this time:

"Partly dead is the scuppernong white,
And its arbor needs amendment;
On, me, I in its fruit dearly delight,
In grape season I often there went.
The grapes are not as luscious
As they were in a thrify state,
And loved them much mother precious,
For she enjoyed them to a high rate.

"A gall-berry bush grew in a stump,
Look beautiful and green;
In the field was the stump,
And was there by ma seen,
Who desired it to be in the yard;
Pa had it moved there;
Moving required work hard,
But death to the bush soon appeard.

Lest there be some misunderstanding regarding the feelings of pa, we quote again:

"I was born in the Old North State
And was the pet of ma dear;
Pa loved me not at as high a rate,
But I was to him very dear!"

Again do we have proof of the truth of the old Latin maxim regarding the birth and non construction of poets—as translated by a go-ahead sophomore—"a poet is nasty and not fitten."

All of which is respectfully referred to the Charlotte Observer, with the distinct understanding that this new poet is not in the class with the Greensboro Laureate. Hers is sadly melancholy and reminiscent, while his is martial, strictly martial.

CURIOUS TYPE OF CRANK.

The One Who Confesses Crimes He Never Committed Annoys the Police.

"The most curious type of crank in the world, in my humble opinion," said an old police officer, according to the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "is the fellow who makes a fake confession. The outside public has no idea how frequently that sort of thing occurs. Whenever we have a murder mystery the authorities are absolutely certain to hear from one or more persons who assert positively that they have committed the crime, and whose stories are generally self-evident fabrications. As a rule the confession crank writes a letter, and now and then communications are so plausible and circumstantial that the police would be thrown completely off the track were it not for the fact that they are always on their guard at just that kind of false leads. It is very strange, and there seems to be absolutely no motive beyond an insane passion for meddling. Occasionally the crank will present himself in person and insist upon being locked up, but his first few words will usually betray him, and unless he is violent, he is quietly escorted to the door. A very singular incident of that kind took place seven or eight years ago in connection with a mysterious murder in the 'Tenderloin' district.

"One evening a young man who belonged to an excellent family of this city called at headquarters and astonished everybody by declaring he had committed the crime. A little questioning showed that his story could not possibly be true, and finally he admitted that he was lying. My curiosity was highly excited, and, taking him to one side I tried to draw from him the reason that had prompted such an extraordinary and dangerous piece of folly. He told me, with hysterical tears, that he had brooded about the case and found a strange and pleasurable excitement in 'making believe' that he was the man who had done the deed. That grew upon him until, I suppose, it became next door to an hallucination. At any rate he could give no other explanation. Of course, such a man should have been placed under restraint as a dangerous monomaniac, but the police have no facilities for handling cases of this kind and the family were averse to sending him to an asylum. I see him frequently on the streets. Some few false confessions are made for the deliberate purpose of misleading the authorities, and, again, they are sometimes made by prisoners solely to secure a transfer to another city. It is a brand of crankiness that might well interest a specialist."

To talk of poverty, 'tis said,
Will bring it hovering round your head;
But you may talk of wealth galore
And not annex a dollar more.

A LIFE AND DEATH FIGHT

Mr. W. A. Hines, of Manchester, Iowa, writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. Howard Gardner.

CHOOSES A HUSBAND.

Wilhelmina Selects Duke Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin.

Announcement of the Royal Betrothal Cheered by the Members of The Netherlands Parliament —Cabinet Opposed Match.

The announcement of the betrothal of Queen Wilhelmina to Duke Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin in the second chamber of The Netherlands parliament the other day was greeted with cheers. The house charged the president to transmit to the queen its congratulations and thanks for communicating the glad event, which was of the highest importance to the dynasty and country.

The announcement has been sympathetically received by the whole German press, although nearly all the papers point out that the event is devoid of political significance. Attention, however, is called to the fact that her choice cannot fail to strengthen the ties of friendship between the two countries. Mention is made of the close relations of language, race and literature and of the fact that the queen's mother was born in Germany.

It is learned from a reliable source that her choice is her own and against the wishes of the Dutch cabinet, who desired her to wait for another year or two until her judgment was more mature. She took the matter into her own hands. When she visited Potsdam a year ago everybody expected that her choice would be Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia, who paid court to her assiduously and rescued her and the queen mother from a serious accident while they were driving in the Sans Souci park. At that time she seemed to be seriously smitten, the prince being tall, good looking and amiable; but it is understood that she yielded to the strong objections of the Dutch cabinet, who urged that an alliance with a Prussian prince might bring political entanglements.

The young duke is in habits and manner a typical German officer. He has traveled to India and North Cape. Recently he has been much in evidence in Berlin and Potsdam and in court, military and diplomatic society, where he is appreciated as an indefatigible dancer. He is also a fine equestrian. His brother, Duke Adolf Friedrich, is a noted steeplechaser.

THE NOISE OF THE STREETS.

O the rattle and the roar and the bang
In the street!
O the jumble and the rumble and the clang—
And the feet—
The feet with iron shoes that go tramping up and down,
Never ceasing, never still in the never-sleeping town!
O the late and early pounding in the shop!
Do the arms that wield the hammers never stop—
Never, never cease to fall
On the bars,
Hard and soft and great and small!
And the cars—
O the rumbling cars that go
In and out and to and fro,
With their puffing and their bumping and their fretting,
And their smashing and collapsing and upsetting!
O the troubles of the engines with the long
Trains they draw!

O the ringing of the anvils and the song
Of the saw!
O the never ending rattle and the never ceasing roar,
What a story they keep telling—keep repeating o'er and o'er—
What a story of strong arms!
What a tale of busy hands!
What a romance reaching out
To the farthest foreign lands!
What a story of glad hearts and of faces that are bright!
What a story of the thanks that go up to God at night!
Hear the anvil where the red
Rod is laid,
Singing: "Bread, bread, bread
For the maid—
For the maid and for the boy, and for the wife!"
Singing: "Joy, joy, joy!" Shouting: "Life, life, life!"

And the song the saw is singing
Is another song of hope,
And a song of joy is ringing
Through the creaking of the rope!
And the feet,
With their never ceasing clatter,
In the street;
They are going, soon or late,
Unto rest somewhere beyond—
Leading on to those that wait—
Wait with anxious eyes and fond—
Where the shouting children play around the doors,
Where the crowing babies creep upon the floors!
O the feet go on and on and the rattle never stops,
And a flood of sound is poured from a thousand busy shops,
And through all the roar and banging
I can hear
Rising o'er the busy clanging,
Sweet and clear,
A song of thanks to Heaven for the work
there is to do,
For the hands there are to do it and the joy it's leading to!

DEATH HOVERS IN KISSES

W. C. T. U. STARTS CRUSADE AGAINST THE CUSTOM.

The Practice Has Become a Greater Plague Than Drink, Declares a New York Woman Physician.

New York World.

Dr. Anna Hatfield, the chief factor in the anti-kissing movement started by the Womans' Christian Temperance Union at its meeting Wednesday, has studied the kiss from both the medical and the human standpoint, and knows whereof she speaks.

"It is a vicious habit," she reiterated yesterday, "and if vice crusaders really want to purify society they should commence by tutoring children from their earliest infancy that kissing is an evil."

"But what of kisses of a mother for her child?"

"They should be fewer. Mothers have kissed their children to death."

"Then there is no condition which justifies a kiss? Don't you ever"—

"I am married."

Dr. Hatfield uttered the only exception with great dignity.

"There are, at least, no moral bacteria lurking there, but from a medical standpoint no person should kiss another unless an antiseptic wash is used on the mouth daily.

"If you will take a microscope and examine the teeth you will realize how limitless are the dangers of kissing."

"And the moral bacteria?"

"You won't require a microscope for that. Kissing has come to be a greater plague than drink. It is more insidious. It is more deadly. Girls are not taught to view a kiss with awe, as they were in the days when I was young. Girls then considered a kiss a betrothal."

"Then engaged people may kiss and be saved?"

"No," said Dr. Hatfield, positively; "engaged people should not kiss. A betrothal kiss is a different thing. It is simply a token of respect—the sealing of a pledge.

"Now, to most people," Dr. Hatfield continued, seriously, "these ideas may seem very extreme; but they are not. Almost all my dealings have been with women. A large part of my practice consists of young girls, because for some reason I win the love and confidence of young people.

"These girls confide in me; they tell me their little hopes and aims and plans and secrets. And nine out of ten of them confess they kiss the men they know. When I warn them against such a course they say, 'Why, what's the harm in it?' To think that mothers should neglect to answer this question! Mothers who rear their daughters with with a view to perfect culture and endeavor to provide them with an ethical education!

"The mothers of today," continued Dr. Hatfield, are to blame for nine-tenthsof the evil that exists.

They don't know how to train children. When their sons and daughters are babies they are kissed incessantly. Every one who comes in is allowed to torment the infant in the same fashion. By the time the infant becomes a child of several years it has become used to the kissing, and you will find that most children before they are five have cultivated the kissing habit. It is like any other vice, which, to be dreaded but needs to be seen; but seen too oft, familiar with its face, we first endure, then pity, then embrace.'"

"Of course the crusaders know the habit is a very deep-seated one and will be hard to brsak up?"

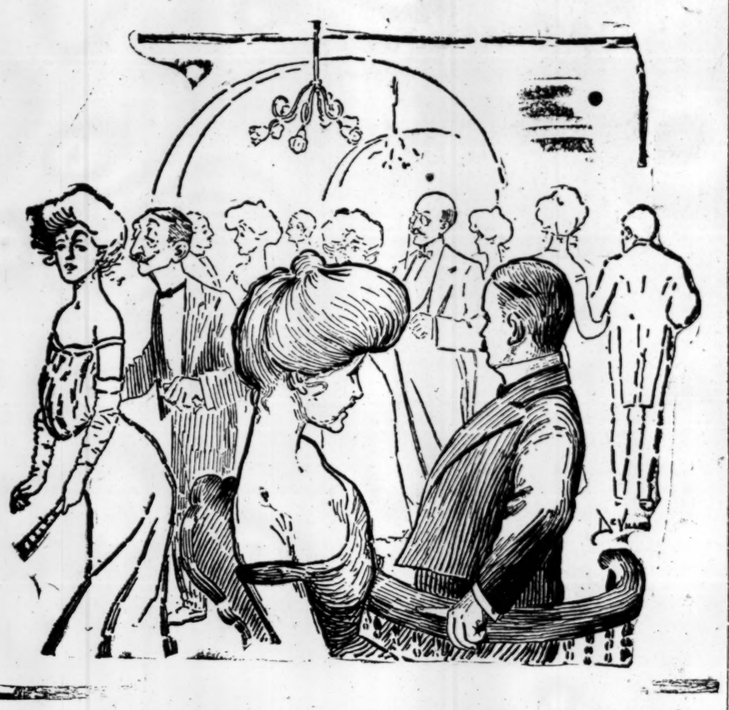
"Certainly; but they must begin with the mothers. Girls are left alone too much. When a young girl and a young man are left night after night down in the parlor their conversation becomes exhausted, and they resort to billing and cooing.

"The trouble is with modern mothers, that they are too liberal, and their daughters do not receive the protection that is their due. If some of the hours spent in solitary association with young men were given up to teaching them how to become good wives and mothers, girls would realize that the way to win a husband is not through the medium of spooning.

"Kissing between women is quite as unwholesome a practice as could possibly exist. I have seen women kiss each other—not once or twice, but hundreds of time—who hate each other's back, who would kill each other through the medium of their kisses if it were possible. Yet it is expected of them, and so they are hyocrites.

"The kiss has gone too far. It usually does, and that's one of its great set-backs. It's time somebody made war upon the kiss. I'm willing to go down as firing the first gun."

HANDLE WITH CARE.



Ethel—Count Grafterino, who is engaged to Maud Gottrox, seems to be a very fragile looking man.

Thomas—Yes, they say the slightest "touch" would break him.

POOR MOTHER.

"It annoys you to see mother come."

"No, it annoys me not to see her go."

THEY KNOW THE ART.

Doubley.—Do you paint or draw, Miss Flash?

Miss Flash—No, I have never learned to draw.

Doubley—That's nothing; lots of girls paint who haven't learned how to draw.

A GOOD THING.

GLORIOUS NEWS

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help: but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist. Guaranteed.

When threatened by pneumonia or any other lung trouble, prompt relief is necessary, as it is dangerous to delay. We would suggest that One Minute Cough Cure be taken as soon as indications of having taken cold are noticed. It cures quickly and its early use prevents consumption. Howard Gardner.

A New Plan to Distinguish Between Them Adapted to European Capitals.

Everyone has had difficulty at one time or another in distinguishing married from single women. In European capitals heretofore a sartorial distinction is to be made to the end that embarrassing mistakes may be avoided. Hitherto the only distinguishing mark between the married and unmarried woman has been the wedding ring, of no particular consequence at evening functions, where, with the exception of dinners, a woman's hands are never uncovered.

Now all is changed. Coiffeurs insist that madam must wear her aigrette on the right side of her head, mademoiselle on the left. If mademoiselle desires to enhance her beauty by a flower instead of an aigrette, let her have it by all means, tucked in with seeming artless grace, but let her make sure it is the left side of her profile she studies while arranging the effect lest later on she be accused of endeavoring to seem that which she is not.

Dressmakers are following the same unwritten law with flowers or the huge chou bow so indispensable this season to all smart frocks. Let no unpracticed hand be so misguided as to imagine that this chou can be carelessly put on either the right or left side. Its proper adjustment is a matter of art; its inartistic adjustment is enough to ruin an otherwise chic gown. The size of the chou should bear some relation to the figure of the woman who is to wear it. It is prettiest made of lace, but may be of chiffon, or even silk or velvet if desired. Commonly it is the size of a penny, of a contrasting color to the gown, and may have ends or not, as one likes. On a slender, flat-chested woman ends that fall below the waist line are most desirable; a woman of good curves, on the contrary, prefers the chou without ends. But, with or without, on matron right or maiden left, the chou must be set down on one side of the bodice just below the decolletage.

To Remove Oil Spots.

The trying yellow spots so often left by sewing machine oil on white goods may be removed by rubbing the stain with a cloth wet with ammonia before washing with soap. — People's Home Journal.
